RECREATION GROUND REOPENING

Llangattock recreation ground is reopening on Monday.

It has been a herculean effort to repair, clean and risk assess all the equipment and the toilets ready for you to use.

New signs have been designed and put up to remind people about social distancing and sanitising their hands after using the play equipment.

The efforts have been led by our Chair, Richard Jones and handyman Wayne. Kay the Clerk has been conducting new risk assessments and Cllr Tim Jones has been helping out with communications.

We have had to introduce new, enhanced cleaning regimes for the toilets, which will now be cleaned daily, at increased cost.

Our thanks go to our cleaner, Andy, for accepting the extra responsibilities. He will also open the toilets each morning.

It is wonderful to be reopening the park after so many months in lockdown. We hope people value it as much as we do.

- Please do:
- Stay away if you have COVID19 Symptoms
 - Take your rubbish home
 - Bring your own hand sanitiser

VOLUNTEERS STEP FORWARD

We are delighted to say that our appeal for volunteers to help closing up the toilets at night has resulted in numerous offers of help.

These new volunteers will take over from others, who have stepped back while shielding from Coronavirus.

Thank you to our past and new volunteers for helping us keep such an important community facility open.

Memorial Benches Arrive

While the park has been closed, the benches for the new Memorial Garden have arrived and been cemented in by Wayne and Richard. The boundaries of the garden have been laid out by Cllrs Gail Jones and Ann Williams. We have also made a start on a new wildflower - more details to follow along with information about volunteer days, when we are allowed to organise them.
